CHAPTER TWO OUTLINE

- KNOW: To understand that damnation, without Christ, is for both Jews and Gentiles; That there is a fair judgement over all men;
- FEEL: To pity those who live under the yoke of sin and do not know the freedom of salvation;
- ACT : to announce the transforming power of divine grace.

The Jewish people pretentiously thought they had some advantage over the Gentiles. The divine Truth reveals that God does not make sense of people and commands us not to do so. Stop and think! Do you act discriminatory? Do you feel better than other people?

The topic of chapter two is the Judgment of God. We learn that the Judgment of God is without regard to race. The justice of God has only one standard by which all mankind is judged. The purpose of God's goodness and patience is to lead him to repentance (2:4).

Unfortunately man is hardhearted and impenitent. The judgment of God will be according to the strictest laws of justice. God will reward those that are righteous and punish the wicked.

This chapter is addressed to any man, lost or saved. The fact that we judge others is proof that we know right from wrong. The judgment we pass on others only condemns ourselves.

What is sin ?

- ✓ The judgment of God is inevitable (RM 2.1-4)
- ✓ The judgment of God is just (RM 2.5-11)
- ✓ The judgment of God is impartial (rm 2.12-16)

Six alibis for sin better known as the rudiments of the world:

1. "We always have done it."
2. "Everybody else does it."
3. "Depends on how you look at it."
4. "A little bit doesn't hurt."
5. "We know when to quit."
6. "You gotta get married."
7. "You gotta make a living."

These are the principles that should guide our lives:

- [1]. Is it right?
- [2]. Will it glorify God?
- [3]. Is it edifying?
- [4]. Can I ask God to bless it and thank him for it?
- [5]. Would I like the Lord to find me doing it when he returns?
